Specification
Sheet.

The Project series is functional, modular and ready to move.

This range facilitates a new way of working, helping people visualize their thinking and create collaboratively.

We know space is in high demand. With the Project series, we have thought about the details so you can think about what matters.

The robust and considered design of the Project series ensures maximum functionality within any space.

The Project series caters to a variety of needs, allowing you to assemble and reassemble the perfect thinking environment.

Features include:

- Easily movable units on industrial strength wheels
- A peg and board system that quickly multiplies wall space
- High quality materials
- New Zealand based design and manufacture
- Fast, easy assembly
- Minimal health and safety concerns with light-weight materials for the boards

Project series components are built to last, and will withstand repeated assembly and countless moves.

All units within the Project series are modular, designed to fit together seamlessly.

Other features for these units include smart storage space solutions, as well as plug-and-play points. Power and USB charging points can be added to units, making it easy to connect technology such as video-conferencing equipment.

The versatility of Project series allows for multiple possibilities in transforming workspaces.

The unique, cross-laminated cardboard construction of the boards creates a highly durable, yet lightweight product —effortless to move and with minimal health and safety concerns.

These boards can be displayed either on the movable storage wall, or mounted side by side to maximize wall space, using the Project board and peg system.

All Project series products pair well with a wide variety of accessories available from Aspect to further increase the utility of the range.
